PAYMENT OF BONUS OPPOSED CLAIM TERRORISM GRIPS SAAR REGION

LEAGUE OF NATIONS ASKED TO INSTITUTE SEMI-MARTIAL LAW

HALF A DOZEN WEEK-END POLITICAL OUTBREAKS OVER PLEBISCITE

SAARBRUEKEN, Saar Basin Territory, Dec. 31.—(P)—Anti-Nazis asked the League of Nations governing commission today to institute semi-martial law in order to suppress "terrorism" gripping the Saar.

The request was made after the territory witnessed half a dozen violent week-end political clashes in which the opponents of a return to Germany in the Jan. 13 plebiscite were generally overpowered.

Serious outbreaks took place at Malstatt, a Saarbruecken suburb, early today and in the town of Bilsen yesterday afternoon. There were several minor clashes Saturday night and further trouble was expected on New Year's eve, when cafes and restaurants will be permitted to remain open until after midnight.

A petition asking that the troops of the international army sent here by Geneva maintain order said "the secrecy of the plebiscite vote has been assured but freedom of speech in the campaigns has not."

Forwarded by Hoffman. The request was forwarded to the governing commission by Johann Hoffman, a Catholic leader of the German Peoples' party, opposed to a union with Reichsfuehrer Hitler, who was in the midst of the battle at Bilsen when Nazis allegedly broke up an opposition rally.

The anti-Nazi also asked the commission to ban the German front's (nazi organization) "flying disciplinary squad," which the petition says is largely responsible for the series of week-end clashes.

Nazis have no need of such a squad, the petitioners asserted, now that troops occupy the territory.

More than 50 shots were fired in the Malstatt disorder. The report of the League of Nations inspectors was understood to have named Nazis as the instigators, and said that the Nazi leaders in the region were in the hall to lead the attack which began with the firing of a gun. Police officials said their investigation as to who was

Robbers Secure Safe From Local Grocery Store

City officers were seeking clues Monday to the identity of thieves who forced open the front door of Estes Self-Serving Grocery No. 4 at 928 West Fifth avenue between 1:40 and 2:20 a. m. and removed the safe in an automobile.

Ellis county officers informed local authorities later that the safe had been found north of Ennis near Highway 75 with the door blown open and the cash which it contained missing.

A burglary was discovered by Patrolman Allen York about 2:20 Monday morning and a search was started immediately for the thieves but no trace had been found several hours later. Examination of the premises and the safe for possible fingerprint clues was underway shortly after noon Monday.

Both safe and contents were covered by insurance.

The store was entered slightly more than a year ago and the safe hauled out in a small wagon to the high school building nearby and an unsuccessful attempt made to hammer the door open.

ALL FOUR RUSHED TO HOSPITAL AFTER RESCUE FROM SNOWBOUND MOUNTAIN

MOREHOUSEVILLE, N. Y., Dec. 31.—(P)—The four survivors of Friday's plane crash near here were brought safely back to civilization today and rushed to St. Elizabeth's hospital in Utica.

Ernest Dryer, pilot of the Americal Air Lines ship, was suffered severely from exposure, frozen feet and apparently congested lungs. His brother Dale, the copilot, had a fractured jaw. J. H. Brown, aviator and R. W. Hambrook of Washington, a passenger, also received emergency treatment here.

All were sped by an ambulance from the department of conservation to Utica. Two had to be

SHARP EARTHQUAKE IN IMPERIAL VALLEY REGION ON MONDAY

SLIGHT DAMAGE IN CALI UNITED STATES; HEAVIEST SHOCKS IN MEXICO

CALEXICO, Calif., Dec. 31.—(P)—Southern California and Arizona were shaken today by a sharp earthquake, believed to have its center in the region of the Imperial Valley of Mexico, south of the California border.

The area between Phoenix and Los Angeles reported the shock was felt for more than a minute, starting at 10:47 a. m.

The only damage reported immediately to American cities was in the Imperial Valley, where in some places grocery stocks were shaken from shelves, windows broken and cracks opened in plaster.

South of the border, in Mexico territory, no reports were immediately available.

From first incomplete reports there were indications that the strongest force of the earthquake reported in American cities occurred at Calexico and San Diego. The shock was quite severe at San Diego, and it could not be immediately learned whether there was any damage there.

The quake was pronounced in Orange county and Santa Ana, but there was no property damage. Inquiries disclosed the shock was not felt to any extent at Santa Barbara, Long Beach or Compton, and that it was light in San Bernardino.

TINKHAM DEMANDS WITHDRAWAL U. S. SOVIET RECOGNITION

CHARGES U.S.S.R. CONTROLLED BY HOMICIDAL TERRORISTS WHO MURDER MANY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—(P)—A demand that American recognition of Soviet Russia be withdrawn was made today by Representative Tinkham (R-Mass.). He said "ferocious barbarism," "atheism" and "anarchistic" doctrines preached in the U. S. S. R. should "not be encouraged by the United States."

Tinkham, who made a tour through Russia last summer, said he would ask congress to approve a resolution embodying his demand.

"The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics," his statement said, "is controlled by homicidal terrorists who have murdered or systematically starved for political purposes between ten and twenty millions of human beings and who continue to murder and starve."

"The U. S. S. R. proclaim doctrines opposed to our constitution and aimed at the destruction of the character of our civilization, which doctrines are systematically

Colder Weather And Rain Slated For Much Texas

By The Associated Press. Colder weather was in prospect for Texas today, with rain forecast for the eastern part of the state.

There were traces of rain at Fort Worth, Abilene, Austin, San Antonio and other points in the last 24 hours but temperatures were mild.

Overcast skies were reported over much of the state today. Steady rain began falling at Gainesville early this morning and, by noon, amounted to more than an inch. The downpour

Business Holiday Tuesday; Retail Merchants Close

Corsicana's commercial life will inaugurate the New Year of 1935 with a holiday according to a survey made Monday morning. Banks, postoffice, and all members of the Retail Merchants association are scheduled to be closed all day Tuesday, and a majority of the remaining lines of business are expected to follow suit.

City schools will continue their holidays until Wednesday. Offices at the city hall will be open according to officials, while considerable activity is scheduled to be centered about the Navarro county courthouse as a slate of new officials are inducted into office.

Postoffice officials announced that the regular holiday schedule would be followed with no city or rural deliveries, but incoming mail would be placed in boxes, and outgoing mail dispatched.

In many instances it is probable that staffs will not enjoy a complete rest for the day but will be engaged in the annual inventory of stocks on hand.

The Corsicana Daily Sun will be published as usual Tuesday.

BANISHMENT FOREVER FOR YOUNG AMERICAN CRITIC OF HITLER

WALDOHR, Germany, Dec. 31.—(P)—Banishment forever from Germany was the prospective penalty today for a young American woman who allegedly laughed at Nazi storm troop uniforms and called Reichsfuehrer Hitler "a Jew."

The judge who will hear the case of Elsa Sittel, 31, of New York, a naturalized American citizen, said this sentence probably would be passed soon after New Year's.

Three Billion Dollars Spent 1934 For Relief

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—(P)—Uncle Sam looked back today on a twelve month in which some $3,000,000,000 was poured out in the drive to aid the distressed by providing cash, goods or jobs.

About one out of every seven persons in the country looked to government for support in who, or in part. This did not count benefits paid to farmers.

A huge item in the expenditure was for relief. Federal emergency relief administration figures show that in 1934's first nine months $972,505,173 was spent, of which 69.5 per cent was contributed by the federal government states and local governments put up 14 per cent and 16 per cent respectively.

The year's total, assuming the December relief fund to require no more than the $175,789,742 for November, was estimated at about $3,480,000,000.

The cost for the year of the civilian conservation corps was set at $360,000,000. Some two billion dollars has been poured out on public works and civil works construction projects since they were

DEMOCRATS LABOR WHIP BIG MAJORITY INTO SOLID UNIT

EXPLOSIVE ISSUES IN OFFING WITH CONGRESS MEETING THURSDAY

By HAROLD D. OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—(P)—With explosive issues in the offing, the dying year found the democratic leadership laboring today to weld its huge majority into a unit to put the Roosevelt administration's program smoothly through the 75th congress opening Thursday.

Surveying a membership that ranges from share-the-wealth men on the "left" to pillars of old-line conservatism on the "right," leaders acknowledged that controversies are in store. But they said they found a consensus among many returning members that the last election was a mandate to follow President Roosevelt's lead.

The President's program—embracing a vast range of problems topped by relief of the unemployed—has not yet been revealed in many details. Legislators expect him to give an outline of principles and aims in a message which he will deliver on Friday.

Many Women and Children Drown Mexican River

TAMPICO, Mexico, Dec. 31.—(P)—The waters of the Panuco river at El Caracol were searched today for the bodies of 25 women and children who drowned yesterday when a passenger launch sank.

The boat, en route to Tampico, was attempting to dock at El Caracol when it struck an obstruction. All the men aboard apparently reached safety but helpless women and children were carried away by the swift currents.

Seventeen Workmen Drown

LISBON, Portugal, Dec. 31.—(P)—Dispatches from Alcarcer said today 17 workmen were drowned when a small boat was caught in a river whirlpool and capsized. Only one man reached shore.

HAUPTMANN'S NOTEBOOKS TO BE USED BY PROSECUTION IN EFFORT SHOW RANSOM FIGURED

By WILLIAM A. KINNEY

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Dec. 31.—(P)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann's pocket notebook, containing careful accounts of his expenses, will be used, an official source disclosed today in a prosecution effort to show that the $50,000 Lindbergh ransom figured in his income.

To substantiate this evidence, the prosecution has a woman witness ready to testify she saw packages of money secreted in a cabinet in the Hauptmanns Bronx home.

The state also expects Betty Gow, Scotch nurse of the slain Lindbergh baby, to testify the child was dead or dying when he was borne past the spot, a scant hundred yards from his home, where she found a thumbtack stripped brutally from his hand.

These three factors became known as the state made a final survey of its case for the trial of Hauptmann, starting Wednesday, for the slaying of the kidnapped infant.

IMMEDIATE PAYMENT WOULD PROVE COSTLY PRESIDENT STATES

LETTER TO LEGION POST COMMANDER MADE PUBLIC OPPOSING PAYMENT NOW

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—(P)—President Roosevelt today renewed his opposition to immediate payment of the bonus and was promptly answered by the Veterans of Foreign Wars with the statement that the chief executive misunderstood the issue.

Mr. Roosevelt made public a letter in which he contended that the bonus was not due until 1945, that it would prove costly and that past experience had shown full payment would not result in much stimulus to business.

The veterans of foreign wars, through their national commander, James E. Van Zandt, pointed out that 3,000,000 veterans had borrowed on their adjusted service certificates and that this "should be sufficient evidence to the President and the congress of the dire need of these men and their families."

"The bonus question," Mr. Roosevelt said, "is not well understood even among the veterans themselves."

The Veterans of Foreign Wars replied that there was "no lack of understanding of this issue on among the 3,700,000 veterans who hold adjusted service certificates. There seems to be some misunderstanding of it on the part of the president."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—(P)—In an obvious effort to head off a strong congressional movement for immediate payment of bonus, President Roosevelt today made public a letter expressing opposition.

The president contended the obligation was not due until 1945, would prove very costly, and that past experience had shown full payment would not result in much stimulus to business.

"The bonus question," he said as congress prepared to convene Thursday, "is not well understood even among the veterans themselves."

"I added this," he said, "have not given the question sufficient study to realize the vast sums required."

In money, he said it would

LONDON, Dec. 31.—(P)—The daily express in a dispatch from Warsaw today says Gregory Zinovieff and Leon Kameneff, once powerful in communist circles, with the families are en route to a "living death" in Russia's arctic "Devil's Island."

The exiles, the dispatch says, were dispatched to Solovetski Island, in the White Sea, for participating in a recent plot against the government.

"Both were shackled before being placed in cold freight cars for the far northern trip," the account says, "and the only concession made Zinovieff was a large bundle of books."

ISLAND KINGDOM DEMANDS NEW PACT TO GIVE EQUALITY

ALL OFFENSIVE WEAPONS
OF WAR WOULD BE WIPED OUT; NO NAVAL RACE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(P)—Japan scrapped the Washington naval treaty today, calling once more for a new pact which would give her equality and wipe out all "offensive weapons of war."

The historic moment the world has been awaiting came when Ambassador Hiroshi Satō stepped into the state department and handed Secretary Hull the formal notice that after December 31, 1935, Japan will not be bound by the treaty which gives her the "three" in the famous 5-5-3 ratio. The oriental diplomat, who was present 12 years ago when the treaty limiting fighting navies was born, thus ended its death-knell, he stated. He expressed hope a new treaty could be agreed upon within the next two years. Japan, he said, is willing to discard half her navy if a common maximum limit for the United States, Great Britain, and the far eastern empire is established.

He said he was "not at all anxious" about the possibility of a naval race.

Naval Race Desired
"The peoples concerned are all intelligent," he said, "and their governments are rational. No one wishes to engage in an armaments building competition."

A statement by the Japanese foreign office spokesman explaining Japan's action was made public by the embassy here.

"In view," it said, "of the present state of extraordinary development in warship, aircraft, and other weapons of war, the existing naval treaties which recognize inequality of armaments among the powers can no longer afford security of national defense for the armaments to be retained for each power."

"For this reason, the new treaty should rest not upon a ratio principle, but on the formula of an agreed common upper limit for the armaments to be retained for each power."

"In order," it said, "to render it difficult for any power to attack another but easy to defend itself, the offensive arms should be totally abolished, the defensive arms reduced, and the defensive arms adequately provided."

Included in Offensive Weapons
The giant battleships and airplanes are included in "offensive weapons," according to Japanese definitions in the past.

The inferior ratio "so detrimental to our national prestige," the statement said, "is bound to remain a source of permanent and profound discontent to our people."

"It is our firm belief," the statement concluded, "that when the other powers, appreciating the essential fairness of the Japanese position, make a sweeping reduction in fighting strength along the lines proposed by our government, then a full measure of security will be afforded to all powers through the elimination of any possible menace from one another, and an enduring peace established upon a solid basis."

Under the Washington treaty's provisions, the earliest date on which the pact can be scrapped is the one chosen by Japan today, December 31, 1935.

Official Statement Terminating Treaty

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(P)—The official statement by the Japanese foreign office spokesman concerning Japan's notice of termination of the Washington treaty said:

"In the recent preliminary conversations, the Japanese government have been exerting, in co-operation with the other powers concerned, their most sincere efforts towards the achievement of a new agreement which would ensure Japan's national defense and which will bring about a substantial measure of disarmament, eliminating all possibilities of aggression from among the great powers while maintaining as far as possible the tax burden of the peoples."

"The Japanese government, after careful consideration from this viewpoint, are convinced that the cause of disarmament can best be served and the security of the powers permanently assured by concluding an equitable agreement founded upon the following principles which have been submitted to the other powers:

1. In view of the present state of extraordinary development in warships, aircraft, and other weapons of war, the existing naval treaties which recognize inequality of armaments among the powers can no longer afford security of national defense for Japan. For this reason, the new treaty should rest not upon a ratio principle, but on the formula of an agreed common upper limit for the armaments to be retained by each power."

2. (a) In consonance with the spirit of disarmament, the said common upper limit should be fixed as low as possible.
(b) In order to render it difficult for any power to attack another but easy to defend itself, the offensive arms should be totally abolished or drastically reduced, and the defensive arms adequately provided."

3. (a) In the light of these basic principles, it is impossible for the Japanese government to acquiesce in the continuation for a further term of the Washington treaty, which limitation, which not only permits the retention of the offensive arms but admits disparity in naval strength through the adoption of a ratio system.
(b) Moreover, the allocation of an inferior ratio, so detrimental to our national prestige, is bound to remain a source of permanent and profound discontent to our people. Consequently, our government has long felt it incumbent upon them to give notice of their intention to terminate the said treaty at the end of the year 1935, namely, upon the expiration of the stipulated term of its life. Of this intention the British and American governments were early given a fair

AMERICAN WOMAN ARRESTED GERMANY RESULT REMARKS

ALLEGED HAVE SPOKEN
DISPARAGINGLY ABOUT
STORM TROOPERS

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

(Copyright, 1934 By Associated Press.)

WALDMORH, Germany, Dec. 29.—(P)—Elsa Sittell, a New York girl arrested here for alleged derogatory remarks about Adolf Hitler's Nazis, danced about merrily in her prison cell today to show her complete lack of concern over her plight.

She was awaiting without worry the arrival of United States Consul General George A. Makinson, who left Frankfurt-on-Main early in the afternoon by automobile. The Waldmohr criminal police said "Fraulein Sittell is in excellent spirits. She has plenty of food and all possible conveniences."

"There is no occasion for any 'atrocity' story," the police asserted, declaring "her dancing around merrily in her cell is the best proof she is being well treated."

The police said Consul Makinson had telegraphed that he was arriving tonight. "After his visit," they said, "will probably know better what disposition to make of the young lady."

The American girl's arrest here followed alleged derogatory remarks she made concerning the Hitlerite storm guard and picked Nazi guards.

WALDMORH, Germany, Dec. 29.—(P)—Miss Elsa Sittell of New York was under arrest here today as a result of derogatory remarks the young woman was alleged to have directed at the Hitlerite storm troopers and picked Nazi guards.

Miss Sittell disappeared while traveling in Germany near the French border. She was found in a restaurant where she had the conversation which apparently resulted in her arrest.

While she was waiting for her train at the Schoenberg station, police placed her under arrest. They accused her of uttering blasphemous remarks.

She was held awaiting possible transfer to the "Sondergericht," a special court at Frankfurt, police said. The date for her hearing had not been fixed.

Miss Sittell went to Europe several weeks ago and was planning to sail for home next week. Officials of the American University Women's Club in Paris received a telegram from her yesterday indicating that she had been detained at the frontier. The message asked that her baggage be held until she could be released, and that they planned to notify the American consulate today of her predicament.

Decide to Act Alone.

"It was only when those powers failed to accept the invitation of our government to decide to act alone and give notice to the government of the United States of their intention to terminate the Washington treaty in conformity with the stipulation under article 23. Each contracting power has, of course, a full legal right to give such notice which is explicitly provided for in that instrument."

"The present step taken by the Japanese government is only a logical outcome of our fundamental policy which aims at the conclusion of another pact to supersede the Washington treaty. Our government desires fervently to arrive at an agreement which is just and fair for all the parties concerned and entirely in accord with the spirit of disarmament. They are prepared, despite the termination of the Washington treaty, to pursue with undiminished zeal friendly negotiations with the other powers."

No Desire to Enlarge Navy.
"So far from entertaining the slightest wish to enlarge her armaments, Japan endeavors to promote the cause of peace by establishing the principle of non-menace and non-aggression through the suppression or drastic reduction of the offensive weapons of war."
"It is our firm belief that when other powers, appreciating the essential fairness of Japan's claims, consent to make a sweeping reduction in fighting strength along the lines proposed by our government, then a full measure of security will be afforded to all powers through the elimination of any possible menace from one another, and an enduring peace established upon a solid basis."

SPORT NOTES

By PAUL MOORE — Sun Sports Editor

Another year, the fifteenth to be exact, in the University of Texas Intercollegiate league football race, has passed and the Amarillo Sandies, after making serious bids for honors only to lose, came through with all the power and fury of the famed West Texas Sandstorms to crush, smother, bewilder and outclass the Corpus Christi Buccaneers in Dallas, 48-0, before 22,000 fans.

The Westerners outclassed the Gulf Coasters in all departments of play and turned in the most crushing defeat ever sustained by a finalist. There was no question as to the superiority for the day. Corpus Christi was impotent and the Sandies stopped Haas cold after the first period and marched with precision up and down the field with spectacular blocking and interference.

It was a sadder and wiser Corpus Christi delegation which rode through Corsicana on the long trek home last Saturday night and early Sunday morning. Corpus Christi was the favorite of the waging fraternity while the Sandies were picked by a majority of the sport writers. This fact caused considerable merriment and satisfaction among the press corps occupants as the game progressed. The titular game Saturday afternoon looked like a sport writers convention—including Jim Chambers, Dallas Dispatch; Melton, Fort Worth Star Telegram; George White, Dallas News; Louis Cox, Dallas Times Herald; Bill Parker, The Associated Press; Jerry Mallin, Amarillo Globe-News; Harold V. Baskin, The Texas Times-Review; Johnny Lyons, Houston Post; Ray Kornegay, Houston Chronicle; Vic

Corpus Christi and Amarillo received nearly $10,000 each from Saturday's titanic match.

We expect basketball training will get under way in full swing this week. Coach Jimmie Gardner will be faced with the problem of moulding a combination from a dearth of material. There will be plenty of boys out for the club, but there apparently are no outstanding players of ability. However, often such a condition produces the best and a bunch of scrappers are banded together which makes up for the lack of ability in fighting spirits—for instance the 1932 club which won the district championship for Coach Jimmie—Eugene Phillips and others.

Japan Says Action
Denouncing Treaty
Is Move for Peace

NO WISH TO ENLARGE ARM-
AMENTS SAYS STATEMENT
ISSUED IN TOKYO

TOKYO, Dec. 29.—(P)—The foreign office in a statement made public today in connection with Japan's denunciation of the Washington naval treaty of 1922 said the action was motivated by a desire to promote peace and disarmament.

Japan has not, the statement said, "the slightest wish to enlarge her armaments."

The hope was expressed that another pact might be concluded superseding the Washington treaty, but the statement made clear that any new agreement must conform with Japan's "basic principles."

The common upper limit for all naval armaments, the statement said, "should be fixed as low as possible."

Furthermore, it said, "in order to render it difficult for any power to attack another but easy to defend itself, offensive arms should be totally abolished or drastically reduced and defensive arms adequately provided for."

Mingled with the statement's professions of peaceful intent, there appeared one terse declaration of the resentment of the Japanese people for the limitations imposed by the Washington pact.

Detrimental to Prestige
"The allocation of an inferior ratio," it said, "is so detrimental to our national prestige that it is bound to remain a source of permanent and profound discontent to our people."
"Our government," it continued, "desires fervently to arrive at an agreement just and fair to all parties concerned and entirely in accord with the spirit of disarmament. They are prepared despite termination of the Washington treaty to pursue with undiminished zeal friendly negotiations with other powers."
"Japan endeavors to promote the cause of peace by establishing the principle of non-menace and non-aggression through suppression or drastic reduction of offensive weapons."

WAR DEPARTMENT LOBBYING CHARGE WILL BE PROBED

GRAND JURY INQUIRY EX-PECTED IN CHARGES OF OFFICIAL CORRUPTION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(P)—A grand jury inquiry was in prospect today as a result of the house military affairs committee's charges of "deplorable" lobbying in the war department and corruption of government officials.

"If things are as I understand them, I certainly shall present the information to the grand jury," Leslie C. Garnett, district attorney for the District of Columbia, told the Associated Press.

The military committee, reporting yesterday to the house, after a nine-month investigation, also renewed its attack on Major General Benjamin D. Foulois as chief of the army air corps. He was not involved in the lobbying or corruption charges, but the committee recommended that he be removed on the grounds that he "violated existing law," testified "falsely" and said the army could "lose" the mail last winter when he "could have known differently."

The war department inspector general's office, at the direction of Secretary Dern, already has instituted a study of the Foulois charges and its report is expected soon. The committee report said "such action is the usual step preliminary to placing such a matter before a military tribunal."

Congressional investigators, commenting on the other phase of their report, said they expected at least two indictments for accepting bribes from army giving favors to concerns represented by lobbyists. Meanwhile, they declined to mention names for fear they said they might give away the district attorney's case.

Testimony has been placed before the committee purporting to show that army officers aided lobbyists for certain concerns, and that specifications had been altered to the benefit of the companies.

The committee report told of "loans or gifts x x to at least two war department officials in high positions." But it centered its criticism upon men outside the department.

TOTAL FARM VALUE TEXAS CROPS OVER THIRD OF BILLION

REPORT SHOWS FIVE PER CENT DROP OVER 1933, BUT
HIGHER THAN 1932

AUSTIN, Dec. 28.—(P)—The United States department of agriculture reported today the total farm value of Texas crops, exclusive of receipts from the government, was $334,459,000 for 1934, a drop of 5.1 per cent from the $352,339,000 value in 1933.

The 1934 value, however, was 53.5 per cent higher than the 1932 amount of $233,128,000. On December 1, the unit price of all Texas crops, except rice, peaches, pears and grapefruit, was higher than on same date last year, a factor which kept the total value of all crops near the 1933 level, "despite abnormally low yields."

Lower average yields in principal crops were cited as the cause of increased value. The per acre yield of 35 important crops was calculated at 79.9 per cent of a 10-year average. Production of only small grains, potatoes and broom corn exceeded the previous year's yield. All fruits, crops except grapes, however, were higher. Pecan production was 54 per cent of last year's crop.

The condition of winter wheat was placed at 55 per cent normal, with moisture conditions generally unfavorable. Sown acreage was placed at 4,373,000, an increase over last year and slightly under the average from 1929-32.

The cotton crop, valued at $148,490,000, was the highest. Others included: Cotton seed $39,442,000; corn $39,451,000; wheat $22,917,000; oats $17,856,000; rice $5,113,000; truck crops, except potatoes, $11,280,000; grapefruit $1,935,000; pears $1,465,000; peaches $1,416,000; and oranges $562,000.

Married on Friday

Miss Frances S. Fay Powers, daughter of S. J. Powers, and Clyde V. Redmond of Midland, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Redmond, were united in marriage Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock in a pretty wedding at the home of the bride on South Eleventh street and Eleventh avenue.

The vows were taken in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives before an improvised altar of ferns in the living room. The Rev. J. F. Adams, pastor of the Eleventh Avenue Methodist church officiating.

The bride, wearing a becoming gown of eel gray flat crepe, with gray accessories, was attended by the bridegroom's sister, Miss Mildred Redmond, and the best man was Mr. Garland Miller.

A reception was held at which time congratulations were extended the happy couple and refreshments of ice cream and angel food cake were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Redmond then left for Galveston and other points south on a short bridal trip and upon their return will be at home at Midland, where Mr. Redmond is with the Pure Oil Company.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Dickson, Mrs. Minnie Perlman, Mr. and Mrs. John L. White, Mrs. W. H. Wildeman, Mrs. G. E. Grissom and Terry Powers, all of Dallas.

ALL 'EMPLOYABLES' WILL BE GIVEN JOBS IF CONGRESS ACTS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(P)—The Roosevelt administration, some high officials forecast today, will ask congress to give power to put all "employables" on the relief rolls to work. At present their number is estimated at 3,500,000 to 4,000,000.

It was believed, however, that an elastic program would be sought, with the government leaving to private business as much of this job-creating task as it can assume.

Though there were indications that the plan Mr. Roosevelt will lay before the congress convening next Thursday has not been completed, certain officials who declined to be quoted by name said the administration was moving toward a "jobs for all" goal.

The Washington Post, placing the number of unemployed workers involved at 4,000,000, said the plan was to give them jobs "on projects financed in whole or part by the government."

As the president drafted his message to a session which will deal with so many momentous issues that leaders expect it to last well into next summer, it became known that one project being weighed by the chief executive is to increase the membership of the civilian conservation corps from its present 350,000 to 1,000,000. Robert Fechner, director of the CCC declined to comment on this but he had said previously that the national forest service and the park service had estimated there was enough work of the nature done by the corps to keep a million men busy for 50 years.

Among other plans placed before the president was one to put many idle to work eliminating grade crossings. Some officials thought this had virtually been decided upon, though the amount of the expenditure was not mentioned. The national resources board recently suggested a $500,000,000 long-term program of crossing work.

Although the number of persons receiving federal aid has been estimated at 19,000,000, Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins is seeking to return some 4,000,000 "unemployables" to the care of the state. That leaves 15,000,000, of whom some 3,500,000 to 4,000,000 are estimated to be bread winners and the rest dependents.

WHAT SHALL WE BRING
"What will the New Year bring to us?"
Strange question we often hear!
But I thought we were wiser if we'd discuss
Just what we shall bring to the year.

For it's little a new year comes to bring
Says sunrise and sunset gold,
Autumn and winter and summer
and spring,
The same as the years of old.
And time must become what men make of it.

As the paper, spotless and white,
Must to the good and the bad
submit.

Accordingly as men write,
Shall we bring courage and faith
and cheer
And a willingness for the task?
This is the question the coming year
May pause at the gate to ask.
Morning and evening of summer
and spring,
And twelve brief months to strive
Will come to us all, but what shall we bring
As our gifts to Thirty-Five?

MOUNTING HIGHWAY TOLL

Fewer motor vehicles were on the highways this year than in 1933 and the country's highway system was greatly improved from the angle of safety and freedom of traffic movement, yet accident and death rates were shockingly higher. For that reason the summaries of accidents are being studied more carefully for the factors which contributed to the ghastly toll of lives.

There is too much speeding under dangerous conditions, but how is it to be stopped? Good roads become speedways and attract heavy traffic, but is the country to go back to dust and mud because of that? Defective brakes, steering apparatus and lights cause accidents. The difficulty is that a car may be in perfect mechanical order today and unfit to be driven tomorrow.

Motor accidents we will always have (unless motors become obsolete like ox carts) for the reason that man is by nature reckless and is apt to err in judgment. The only reason there are not many times more collisions than there are is that behind some of the wheels there are brains that can think quickly. Close shaves are as common as gas stations to the driver who travels much.

MILK IS NECESSITY.

Here is word from Washington that parents should consider. Dr. Fred C. Howe, of the consumers' counsel, says that a study of the food budgets of 29,485 families in 59 cities revealed that 14 per cent bought no whole milk. Few used the amount of milk now considered necessary for health.

The deficiencies of diet which are imposed on a child can not be restored later in life. Weaknesses attributable to the lack of vital elements may not become evident for years, but they certainly will appear.

Two reasons account for this parental neglect: Ignorance, and the cost of milk. A campaign of education would correct ignorance. A lower price would reduce the milk surplus.

say very much about it, here are the salient features:

Twenty points, the highest rating of all for any single attribute, an average weight for height and age.

Ten points for perfection in each of the following: Skin, feet and health.

Five points for excellence in each of these particulars: Hair, eyes, mouth, teeth, hands, posture, hearing, vision and clothing.

Three points for harmony of movement.

Two points for good lines and grace, while seated.

Thus our professor's perfect woman, and whether it all adds up to one hundred or not can't make a great deal of difference. For what lover will gaze into his darling's eyes and chart in hand murmur, My dear you only add up to sixty-two?

If he does we think he will get what's coming to him, and deserve it, too.

Maybe the senate investigators can tell us whether arms makers are the only patriots who lose their amateur standing during a war.

THE ANNUAL VISITATION

—By Clive Weed

A NEW FIELD OF LEARNING

There has recently come from Professor Nicholas J. Spykman, sterling professor of international relations at Yale, the announcement that a selected group of Yale juniors and seniors are to go to Washington next spring to study the federal government at short range. About a dozen students will be chosen to make the trip on the basis of interest and proficiency in the field of government and international relations, their expenses to be paid from funds of the Block Foundation at Yale.

The idea seems to be a good one, and it is strange that it has not been put into practice before. The cry for many years has been that American undergraduates show a marked lack of interest in government and politics by comparison to their English cousins; here, then, is a movement that will lead in that direction. And while one might hesitate to commend to them that they will see, it will be experience in the land of reality as opposed to the theories they have presumably heard expounded in the classroom.

NEW YORK'S TAX PROBLEM

New York City's 2 per cent sales tax has gone into effect. Controller Joseph D. McGoldrick has announced that the city will fight any attempt to evade it by citizens who make purchases outside New York's boundaries and bring them in for consumption. Taxes on such goods are to be paid directly to the controller.

It will be interesting to see what the courts will do if Mr. McGoldrick endeavors to enforce this edict. Imagine a test case. A citizen of New York City drives to Yonkers, finds his gas tank empty and has it filled. He arrives home with 10 gallons of gasoline on which he has not paid the city tax. Will they stop him at the city limits, measure the amount in his tank, and collect a tax on it? Or must he drive to the controller's office and pay a nickel over the counter? Suppose he claims he had two gallons in the tank when he arrived at Yonkers; will the collector take his word for it?

Although ready to expect anything in taxation, taxpayers are nevertheless bound to be interested in how New York is going to collect both from the man from Yonkers who makes a purchase on Broadway,

GENERAL SECURITY PACT IS FORECAST FOR ENTIRE EUROPE

REPORT SUGGESTION TO BE SUBMITTED TO COUNCIL AFTER PLEBISCITE

LONDON, Dec. 28.—(P)—An authoritative diplomatic source stated today that Great Britain, with the co-operation of France and Italy, will propose a general security pact embracing almost all the countries of Europe immediately after the Saar plebiscite.

The suggested convention, it was said, will be submitted at Geneva, the seat of the League of Nations.

The plebiscite itself is to be held Jan. 13, and the council of the League of Nations is to meet just two days before the balloting by which the Saarlanders will express their desire as to the future sovereignty of the Saar basin territory.

The suggested pact would be a point pledge and guarantee of the independence of Austria. It also would pledge the signatory nations not to make any moves against one another involving Austria or any other question in which two or more countries had an interest.

Germany, it was stated, has given assurances that she will participate in the conventions. Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald and Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, were said to have been the men who conceived the idea of the proposal.

Sir John's present trip to France diplomatic quarters were given to understand, is for the purpose of arranging preliminary steps towards the pact. It was said that he had been given the full co-operation of France and Italy in the British proposals.

Pierre Laval, French foreign minister, it was said, would discuss the proposal with Premier Mussolini of Italy in a forthcoming visit to Rome. Afterward Laval is expected to come to London to help prepare the proposal.

It was understood that the pact will be open to the signatories of all countries including Russia and probably efforts would be made to have it replace the various regional pacts which previously had been proposed unsuccessfully.

Bond Commission Sold Million And Half For Relief

AUSTIN, Dec. 28.—(P)—The state bond commission today sold $1,500,000 state relief bonds to a syndicate represented by George V. Rotan and Company, Houston, on a basis calculated to cost the state $233,575 in interest.

Rotan's bid was par, accrued interest and $45 premium for $855,000 at three per cent and $855,000 at three and one fourth per cent.

The members of the syndicate were Mercantile Commerce Bank and Trust Company, St. Louis; E. H. Rollins and Sons, Chicago; Equitable Security Company, Nashville; A. W. Snyder and Company, Houston, and the New Yorker who spends a dollar in Yonkers and brings his purchase home.

DEEPEST REGRET IS EXPRESSED LONDON OVER STEP JAPAN

By HAROLD P. BRAMAN Associated Press Foreign Staff

LONDON, Dec. 28.—(P)—The clock has been turned back a dozen years by Japan's denunciation of the Washington treaty of 1922, it was asserted today by both American and British spokesmen here.

The deepest regret was expressed that the only successful disarmament pact should be thrown upon the junk heap and British and Americans were convinced that only a change of attitude in Japan upon the question of equality will make possible a new treaty.

An American spokesman declared that political stability in the Pacific was threatened and that a naval building race is a possibility after 1936.

A British spokesman pointed out that in addition to the system of security established, the Washington treaty saved each country millions of dollars in expenditures.

It was stated the British intend to make new efforts at the earliest opportunity to bring about further conversations or a conference of the three powers, Britain, Japan and the United States.

The Americans expressed the belief that the entire collateral peace system of the Pacific has been endangered by the denunciation, feeling that Japan may later put aside the nine-power and four-power pacts signed at the same time as the Washington naval treaty.

Take Less Serious View
The British appeared to take a slightly less serious view of this situation and were somewhat more optimistic than the Americans over the outlook for future agreement.

Ambassador Tsuneo Matsudaira visited the foreign office this afternoon and presented a text of the denunciation as a matter of courtesy. His action was simultaneous with that of Ambassador Salto at Washington.

Washington later will send formal notice of the denunciation to the signatories of the treaty.

One American delegate expressed the opinion that the denunciation will clarify the existing situation and have a good effect in Japan.

The spokesman explained that the move would, figuratively speaking, enable the Japanese to get the issue out of their system. He said the Americans feel the conversations have ended in a more friendly and more fortunate way than had really been expected. The spokesman added that the Americans hoped it would be possible for the powers to get together again some time in 1935, but that everything depended upon the attitude of Japan.

Barrow, Leary and Company, Shreveport.

Five bids were received, all close. The next best bid was by a syndicate headed by Donald O'Neil and Company, Dallas, who offered $355 premium for $707,000 at three per cent; $458,000 at three and one fourth per cent; $335,000 at three and one half per cent interest. The aggregate interest charge was calculated at $236,422.50. The third best, by a syndicate headed by Callahan, Jackson and Company, Dallas, offered $269.27 premium for the entire series at three and one eighth per cent.

With the sale, $1,500,000 remained of a $6,000,000 issue authorized by the legislature last fall. The remaining $1,500,000 bonds were prescribed for relief during February. Proceeds from securities sold today will be used during January.

After sale of the February block $2,500,000 will remain of $30,000,000 series approved by the electorate last year.

FAULKNER JURY IS COMPLETED; HEARING TESTIMONY STARTED

By HARRELL E. LEE (Associated Press Staff Writer).
GROESBECK, Dec. 28.—(P)—A jury for the murder trial of Grady Faulkner of New Eader, 30-year-old convicted counterfeiter, was completed at noon today and was cleared for starting prosecution testimony this afternoon.

Faulkner was accused of killing Alton C. Gibson, 18, of Houston, listed to be a witness against him in a counterfeiting case in federal court at Houston.

The last jury was accepted as the special venire of approximately 70 men was exhausted. Eight of the 12 men had been chosen before court adjourned yesterday.

T. L. Tyson, Franklin county counsel for Faulkner, indicated in questioning of prospective jurors that he would seek to create doubt that the decomposed body found in an isolated section of Freestone county was that of Gibson. Identification had been based on dental fillings.

Tyson succeeded in having one venireman disqualified because he had formed an opinion as to whether the dead man was Gibson. The attorney referred to Gibson as the "alleged deceased."

Faulkner's counsel also indicated he would try to show that the killing of Gibson, if the body was that of the Houston youth, was done in some other county than Freestone, the county named in the indictment that the body was brought to Freestone county.

States' attorneys did not press questions relative to views of the veniremen on capital punishment. However, they challenged one man for cause who said he would not impose the death penalty on circumstantial evidence.

BILL TO CREATE ARKANSAS VALLEY AUTHORITY READY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(P)—Rep. Disney (D-Okla.) said today he had prepared a bill calling on congress to create a $100,000,000 Arkansas valley authority, similar to the Tennessee valley project, to embrace portions of at least seven western states.

"I would make this authority as nearly similar to the TVA as I could make it," Disney said. "I have sent to Tennessee for an outline of that state's legislation which I will forward to E. W. Marland, governor-elect of Oklahoma, for his inspection."

The vast program would involve Colorado, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas, Arkansas, and Missouri. The Red River would bound on the south, the White river in Arkansas on the east, the Kaw river in Kansas on the north and the continental divide in Colorado on the west.

The matters of personnel and location of the authority's office would be left to the president but Disney would like to have the headquarters located in Tulsa and he would suggest a committee of three to direct the authority's affairs. One member would be an analyst-economist and the others engineers, one to deal with flood control and the other power development.

The authority would be directed to make surveys designed to set up power, flood control and soil erosion work and would canvass the possibilities of navigation.

Marland, who will be inaugurated next month, already has created the flood control committee of five members and hopes to have the Oklahoma legislature set up a permanent flood control commission shortly after that body convenes next month.

GRANT INJUNCTION AS DIVORCE FILED BY MRS. GARRISON

A temporary injunction restraining and enjoining Jim Garrison from disposing of or mortgaging community personal property was granted by Judge of the 13th Judicial District court Saturday morning, in the case styled, Mandie Garrison vs. Jim Garrison, divorce and injunction, which was filed Saturday morning.

Garrison is charged by complaint with murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Aude Washburn, Monday, in the southeastern section of Navarro county, near Wildcat Ferry on Trinity river.

The divorce and injunction proceedings were brought by Cleo G. Miller, criminal district attorney.

put away a fair supply of these products. A live-at-home attitude, however, has been taken by the farmers and there will be plenty of food canned and prepared for future use from the gardens and orchards during 1935.

Not only does the prospect for the future look brighter for the farmer but he is starting out in better shape than he has in several years.

Navarro county produced approximately 45,000 bales in 1934 for which farmers received an average of 13 cents per pound or $2,250,000. Cotton seed at an average of $40 per ton brought $1,800,000 and government rentals and parity payments for the cotton crop alone will total at least $700,000, making a grand total of $4,750,000 received from the principal crops.

In addition, farmers of the county received approximately $25,000 in the hog reduction campaign and $30,000 for cattle sold to the government during the summer.

They had made the crop with the least expense possible and perhaps made more net profit than in years. From the tremendous increase in income received the farmers of the county are faced only with the payment of a higher price for feed. Figures released by the AAA on December 13 show that the millions of dollars increase in income received for controlling production represented an increase in cost of living of less than 1 per cent.

The income received by the farmer of Navarro county in 1934 was much greater than received in 1932 when the prevailing price for cotton was about 6 and 1-2 cents and cotton seed $13.00.

Without the controlled production the price for the past year would have no doubt been much less and the outlook for 1935 would not be nearly so bright.

ness is being guarded carefully. She visited the Hauptmann home one day while Hauptmann was absent and she continued to lead him into the belief that he can pay for food through money received from cotton planted on the land.

Farmers now realize that they are not being deceived and that the food must be planted on the land.

Shortage of feed caused many farmers to plant fall grains and other feed crops. The fall crops did exceptionally well due to the rains and the continued favorable weather. Oats, barley and other grain crops that have been planted for harvesting next summer are doing exceptionally well. More will be planted at the proper time.

Soil Improvement.

Another factor in the development of the county not to be overlooked is the opportunity afforded the farmers to improve the soil through crop rotation since there is a reduction in cotton acreage. Not only do the farmers have an opportunity to improve their farm lands but they are taking more interest in their pastures and are improving them.

A program of general improvement being conducted over the county. Terraces are being built, drainage is being improved, and the soil is being changed to afford better drainage. The farmers have more time to attend to these details and in most instances are using the services of the county agent and vocational agriculture teachers in determining the best plan for their particular requirements.

Canning of fruits, vegetables and meats during 1934 was curtailed somewhat by the extended drought, but farmers managed to cost $1,620,000 above the present certificate value of $2,100,000, and $2,380,000 more than the original basic adjustment of $1,400,000.

The president's views were expressed in a letter, dated December 27, to Commander Garland R. Farmer, of the American Legion post at Henderson, Texas, an area whose congressional members almost invariably are supported cash bonus demands.

Should Be Settled Soon.

At a press conference, Representative Byrnes of Tennessee, who will be the next speaker, reiterated his "personal opinion" that the bonus issue should be settled soon.

He declined to commit himself on the proposals that have been advanced, but said he had "heard some talk of paying it by installments."

When the session begins, there will be half a dozen or more propositions submitted," Byrnes said. "I would not suggest that proper committee consideration should not be given, but I see no reason to delay the thing until May."

"If the committee reports a bill, I think it should be given a rule (legislative right-of-way) and be brought to a vote."

Some leaders on Capitol Hill said they considered the president's action a serious obstacle to the bonus movement but others were quite emphatic that the door should not be closed to all compromise.

Representative Fuller of Arkansas, democratic member of the ways and means committee which would probably introduce legislation, said he was in favor of "disposing of the issue now," but said he was not sure yet just how it should be done in installment payments or otherwise.

With the president's message in last hour polishing of his message to congress and especially with planning a new human relief program, special interest was centered on his statement that "all expenditures for relief have been made in the interest of recovery for all our citizens, non-veterans as well as for veterans."

Have Shared in Relief.

The chief concern of "all citizens in need have shared in the direct distribution for relief, and in employment * * * a very definite and distinct preference is given to veterans."

Mr. Roosevelt said that he felt it would deliver his annual message in person to a joint session of congress where he will have an opportunity again to touch on the bonus issue in outlining federal policy.

The president enclosed in his letter a special memorandum prepared for him describing the issuance of the bonus certificates and its insurance features.

In addition, farmers of the county received approximately $25,000 in the hog reduction campaign and $30,000 for cattle sold to the government during the summer.

They had made the crop with the least expense possible and perhaps made more net profit than in years. Text of President's Letter On Bonus

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Here is the text of President Roosevelt's letter on the soldiers' bonus question.

"Your statement of your letter of recent date, and it is particularly interesting in that it confirms an impression that I have had for some time, that is, that the bonus issue, no matter how it is handled, will be a source of trouble to the country and government at heart."

Hauptmann has maintained he did not know the contents of the shoe box until it broke open, after which he learned that the rain which fell into the box where he put it for safekeeping.

Hauptmann's expense books and ledgers were found when his house was searched and his arrest in September, authorities declared, saying they contain itemized accounts of such trivial expenses as pennies for a box of matches and two-cent stamps.

First Evidence.

They show frequent calls, investigators said, in which Hauptmann's income up to the amount of his income and his outlay, it is here, the official disclosed, that the federal expert has repeatedly traced how the ransom money was kept in and out of the former German machine gunner's financial accounts.

The thumbguard, which Miss Gow found a few days after the kidnapping, had been tied by the wrist of the child's sleeping suit.

The tape was still tied when it was found, and the state will contend that it learned that the sleeping garment was hastily stripped from the baby's body by a kidnaper who did not have time to untie the tape.

He, the thumbguard, the state believes, will be evidence that the kidnaper realized he held a dead or dying baby in his arms, knew he could not return the baby alive, and was therefore determined to take the sleeping suit as proof he was the one who took the child. It was the return of the sleeping suit that brought about the ransom payment.

While Hauptmann spent the Sabbath quietly in his cell, an althe balance due on the adjusted service certificates.

General Misunderstanding.

It is quite apparent from your letter in which you advise me of the reasons why the service men are demanding immediate payment of the bonus that there is a general misunderstanding in regard to the government's obligation in this matter.

When in 1924 congress decided to issue the adjusted service certificates, they actually authorized a bonus of $1,400,000,000, but because of the stand taken at that time by those advocating the measure who felt that it would be in the interest of the service men themselves, this cash outlay was not made immediately, but was deferred for twenty years.

Because of the deferment the initial bonus was increased 25 per cent so that the $1,400,000,000 invested for the service men at 4 per cent compounded annually, matured in twenty years $3,600,000,000.

Interest Accumulates.

Or putting it another way, suppose that a veteran's original investment of $1,400,000,000 in 1924 was $400 and the veteran did not borrow on his certificate, permitting the interest to accumulate to maturity, the $400 would grow so that it would be a veteran when due in 1945 $1,000.

In other words, the amount which is printed upon the face of every adjusted service certificate is not the actual value of the original bonus voted by congress, but is an amount plus 25 per cent added for deferred payment which with interest at 4 per cent compounded annually for a period of twenty years, will produce the face or maturity value.

This would seem to dispose of the question as to whether the obligation is immediately due.

There is another feature in connection with this matter that impresses me, and that is the fact that the $3,600,000,000 certificates outstanding $3,600,000,000 have borrowed thereon approximately $1,690,000,000.

Borrow More Than Worth.

In other words, some have borrowed more than the present worth of their Bonus certificates.

This is brought about by the action of congress permitting a loan to be made for 25 per cent of the face or maturity value of his certificate, even though that certificate may have been issued only a few days before the loan was made.

Of course, all the certificates were not issued at the same time in 1925, but have been issued from that date up to the present.

As a result, the value of the certificates as we may put it, is not the same in all cases, but is taking the aggregate of all the certificates issued, they have a present value of $2,100,000,000, whereas their face value is $3,600,000,000.

Then too, I believe it has been suggested that the interest paid on the certificates be cancelled or remitted. If this plan were carried out the total amount would increase to $3,720,000,000, or putting it another way making a present value of $2,220,000,000, above the amount which the congress fixed as the original basic adjustment.

Insufficient Study.

I feel sure that many of the veterans have not given the question sufficient study to realize the consequences of such action.

Your statement advising me that those who favor the immediate payment of the bonus feel that the government has spent millions of dollars on the recovery program, and by so discharging this obligation the money spent by the veterans will do no good in a practical way of stimulating recovery, is interesting.

I know that you appreciate that all expenditures for relief have been made in the interest of recovery, and for a fair claim on non-veterans as well as for veterans.

TESTIMONY STARTED IN FAULKNER TRIAL FOR GIBSON MURDER

PROSECUTION SEEKS SHOW MOTIVE FOR DEATH OF
HOUSTON YOUTH

GROESBECK, Dec. 31.—(P)—The prosecution in the trial of Frady Faulkner of New Baden, charged with the slaying of Alton C. Gibson, today sought to show the jury a motive for the death of the Houston youth.

Dick McBride of New Baden testified that Faulkner was indicted for counterfeiting in federal court at Houston, and that Faulkner did not appear for trial, and that he (McBride) had not seen Gibson alive since last Sept. 18.

Testimony that Gibson was to have been a government witness in the counterfeiting case was admitted over vigorous objections of T. L. Lyson, defense counsel. Lyson contended that government records or statements by government officials would be the best evidence.

McBride stated that he and Gibson were indicted along with Faulkner on a counterfeiting charge, McBride said he had received a three year suspended sentence. A four year sentence was imposed on Faulkner notwithstanding that Gibson was not in court to testify against him.

Mrs. Estelle Amendt of Houston, Gibson's landlady, told of his disappearance.

She said Estelle Black came for him 5 o'clock next morning, she testified, but he was not in his room when she went there. However, his clothes still were in the room.

"I have not seen him since," she said.

Estelle Black previously had testified that on that night he and Faulkner had driven Gibson to the home of Joe Curry, near Groesbeck.

Curry and Faulkner drove away from the Curry home with Gibson asleep on the back seat and, when they returned, Gibson was not with them, Black testified.

A decomposition body identified as that of the Houston youth was found nearly a month later a few miles from the Curry home.

Black Prove Body That of Gibson. GROESBECK, Dec. 31.—(P)—State prosecutors set about today to prove that a body found in the Keechik creek in Freestone county was that of Alton C. Gibson, 18, of Houston, for whose slaying Faulkner, convicted counterfeiter, faces trial.

Two dentists who identified the body as that of the youth by fillings in his teeth were ready to testify for the state. Defense attorneys said they would present testimony to show that Gibson, missing witness against Faulkner, in a counterfeiting case, had been in New Orleans since the discovery of the body.

Estelle Black, Faulkner's youthful nephew, testified for the state today that he saw Faulkner and Gibson drive to the farm home of Joe Curry in Freestone county in September and that Curry and Faulkner drove away with Gibson and returned later without the youth.

Black and Curry also are charged in the slaying. Defense attorneys contended Black testified under the promises of leniency by the state.

LONG MAKES FIRST MOVE TO TAKE OVER CITY ALEXANDRIA

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION
MEETS TO DECIDE COMPET-
ENCY POLICE CHIEF

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 31.—(P)—The Huey P. Long administration today took the first step in plans to take over the city administration of Alexandria, La., when the civil service commission met in executive session to decide upon the "competency" of Chief of Police Clint O'Malley of Alexandria.

Gov. C. K. Allen, as ex-officio chairman of the commission, presided, and after preliminary matters were disposed of called the commission into executive session.

Chief O'Malley, whom the Long administration has charged with dereliction of duty, had been cited to appear before the commission to "submit as to his competency to fill the position of chief of police in and for the city of Alexandria."

O'Malley did not appear, but the secretary of the commission, representative L. M. Wimberly of Blountville, read a telegram which he said he received from the police chief in which O'Malley said that it was impossible for him to appear today because of sickness in his family, but said that he would appear at some other time.

At Gov. John B. Fournet, a member of the commission, told the commission that two members of the legislature from Rapides parish, whom he did not name, had quoted O'Malley as saying "that he wasn't going to appear and that they couldn't put him out of office."

Approximately 20 state highway patrolmen were in the commission hearing room when the session got under way. It was understood that a number of them as well as witnesses against O'Malley.

Alfred Files
Suit Recover
State Oil Land

AUSTIN, Dec. 31.—(P)—Attorney General James V. Alfred filed suit today against the South Texas Development Company for title to 707 acres in the oil field of Montgomery county and past oil production.

The petition in the suit, one of the largest in the state, alleged that the company had wrongfully taken public free school land and title to the remainder was otherwise faulty.

'Woman's Bloc' In Congress Seen Aiding Social Security Legislation

By BESS FURMAN
WASHINGTON (P)—In the new congress, widely heralded as one of "women interest," seven women seasoned in social welfare will press their views on "social security" legislation.

Never before has there been a national program so in line with the old suffrage arguments of why women should take part in politics. With old-age insurance, unemployment insurance, child welfare, and home protection, close co-operation is expected of the feminine contingent.

Small, soft-voiced Senator Hattie Caraway of Arkansas, who has firm opinions behind a modest manner, is a champion of humanitarian measures and old-age pensions.

Sixteen years of social welfare campaigns in New York state politics have been a model of humanitarian measures and old-age pensions.

That was one reason Mrs. Roosevelt walked.

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 31.—(P)—Rescue of the four men stranded with their wrecked plane in the Adirondacks was effected today.

Their rescuers, hardy woodsmen from Hoffmeister, N. Y., eight miles north of the forested hillsides, started their search at 11:30 a. m., about 6 1/2 hours after the giant American Airlines plane crashed in a snow storm Friday night en route from Syracuse to Albany.

Lieut. Al Mitchell of the Massachusetts national guard radioed from his plane on vigil above the spot that five men of the group of 11, which included seven searchers, left the spot for the highway to Hoffmeister, and that four men followed them shortly afterward. They left two men at the wrecked plane. Their identity could not be established from the air, but it was believed that not more than one was a survivor of the plane crash.

The courageous effort of the Hoffmeister woodsmen, including Lester Pertello and Floyd Krueger, to take the cold and hungry fliers to their home eight miles away, climaxed the three-day flight of state police, national guard fliers and Airline Company officials to rescue the quartet in 30-below weather and waist-deep snow.

The four, Ernest Dryer, pilot of the airliner; his brother, Dale, co-pilot; J. H. Brown of Boston, American Airlines pilot flying as a passenger; and R. W. Hambleton, a Washington, D. C., were located from the air last night but not contacted from the ground until nearly midnight. Then Pertello and his brothers, John and Charles, struggled through with Krueger from Hoffmeister.

MOREHOUSEVILLE, N. Y., Dec. 31.—(P)—Three of the four men stranded for three days in the snowed-out plane in the Adirondacks eight miles from here were walking in this direction with their rescuers today, while the fourth awaited at the scene of the wreck with a wrench and a state conservation department announced today.

Reached at 10 o'clock last night by four woodsmen from Hoffmeister, the cold and hungry men resisted the rescue party and told of the joy with which the survivors of the hillside crash greeted their rescuers.

He said one of the fliers, either Ernest, the pilot, or his brother Dale, the co-pilot, had a wrench and hip and would be taken out later by sled. The others were expected to reach Morehouseville at 2 p. m. Dryer's injury was only serious enough to prevent his walking.

Ten marooned men first were rescued by John Charles and Lester Pertello and Frank Krueger of Hoffmeister, about 10 o'clock last night. Lester Pertello and Krueger stayed with the men while the other two started for Hoffmeister with the glad news of rescue.

By HOMER MCCOY
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 31.—(P)—Doggiedly, and in the gripping manner of a Poe horror tale, searchers today made frantic efforts to rescue four men marooned in a desolate wilderness where their huge transport airplane crashed during a howling storm last Friday.

Searching parties ploughed through deep snow in the foothills of the Adirondacks about 18 miles north of Little Falls, N. Y. They slashed their way into heavy forests to the wrecked plane which had been definitely located by Dean Smith, a veteran flier.

Hopes that the victims had been finally reached by a searching party of six men received a cold douche when Earl Ward, vice president of the American Airlines operators of the wrecked luxury liner, announced he had been informed the marooned men were still isolated.

Earlier Smith, aviator who was with Admiral Byrd's expedition to the South Pole in 1929, circled his plane above the smashed ship and radioed this report to the Albany airport.

"Searching party reached plane. Food dropped. We now coming back."

Searching Party Near.

This following shortly a report by another pilot hovering over the scene, Ray Jones, that a searching party was only a mile from the marooned quartet.

Canned food was dropped for the quartet from two National Guard planes.

Ward announced he had received word from a searching party that it had all been a mistake—that the men had not been reached.

The food had been dropped at the feet of a band of searchers, not the marooned men, Ward said, and he dispatched a plane to aid ground parties in locating the disabled ship. At the controls was Carl Day, blind flying pilot.

The plane returned shortly before dawn with a report that the occupants of the disabled ship were still huddled around their fire and none of the ground searching parties parties was within five miles of them.

Another Plane Dispatched.

Another National Guard plane was dispatched with a new supply of food to be dropped by parachute. The Guard plane also planned to drop a small axe with the package of food so the men might cut wood for their fire.

When Smith, who had circled the plane above the wrecked Curtiss-Corandor, wirelessly the information that the men had been found by the ground party, Mrs. Dryer, wife of Ernest Dryer, pilot of the last ship, wept.

"I can't wait until I see my husband again," she exclaimed through her tears.

Mrs. Dryer had flown from her Cleveland home to stand near the radio operator in the Albany airport.

"I'm very glad that the thing is over, and to know that they're

TRIAL OF EIGHT IN CONNECTION UNION STATION MASSACRE

SELECTION OF JURY TO TRY
FOUR MEN AND FOUR WOM-EN BEGAN MONDAY

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 31.—(P)—Mrs. Vivian Mathis, one of eight defendants in the Union Station conspiracy case, pleaded guilty to the first of the three counts in the charge against her immediately after a jury of farmers and business men was chosen today.

Mrs. Mathis, a tall blonde dressed in black, was impassive when Judge Merrill O. Otis asked her to confirm the statement of her attorney, Ralph Lathrop, that she wished to enter a guilty plea. She repeated the guilty plea and Judge Otis announced that sentence would be deferred until the end of the trial.

Mrs. Mathis posed here as the wife of the late J. P. Miller, accused by the government as one of the three machine gunners who killed four officers and Frank Nash on the Union Station plaza here June 17, 1933.

The count to which she pleaded guilty was that of conspiring to free a federal prisoner. Maurice M. Milligan, United States district attorney, announced that he would enter two counts against her would be dismissed.

The jury was chosen in rapid fire order after Judge Otis had limited the jury panel to a very rare of 28 men to 30 minutes.

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 31.—(P)—Selection of a jury began in the trial of eight defendants in the federal court here today in the trial of four men and four women charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice in the Kansas City Union Station slayings.

The count to which she pleaded guilty was that of conspiring to free a federal prisoner. Maurice M. Milligan, United States district attorney, announced that he would enter two counts against her would be dismissed.

The jury was chosen in rapid fire order after Judge Otis had limited the jury panel to a very rare of 28 men to 30 minutes.

Classical Figures, 'Lost' Many Years, Are Gracing Smart Drawing Rooms

Aphrodite's head makes a perfect final for a column of the gigantic figures usually seen only in museums. Then again it is interesting to visualize how they can be used.

By MARGERY TAYLOR
(Copyright, 1934, By McCall's Magazine For The Daily Sun)
This is a period of revival in the world of interior decorating. It would be interesting for the psychologist to diagnose what it is in the gay, restless, ever-progressive youth of today which makes him want to keep always before him remnants and reminders of the near and distant past.

Not content with combining the "Good Queen" and biscuit-tufted satin and ebony inlaid with mother-of-pearl, with the sleek, modern crystal and metal, the smart decorator today takes a dash back into history and adds the exquisite spoils of Greece and Rome.

Newest of the classic modern touches, and complementary to which we have grown so fond, are the classical figures of white plaster which are making their way into smart rooms. A collection shown recently had just been unearthed from the cellar of a European factory where they had lain for years. The figures, less in workmanship, it is fascinating to study the small replicas of the gigantic figures usually seen only in museums. Then again it is interesting to visualize how they can be used.

They are all of pure white plaster, smooth and exquisite in their minutest detail. Among the favorites are complete figures of Aphrodite, the Dancer at Tarsus, Diana, Apollo, Paris, Ariadne, Mercury, and the Discobolus. Most of them are from four to eight inches tall. You will want to place them on your hanging shelves, on occasional tables and in the classic modern dining room.

There are also large white plaster heads or busts, from one to two feet high, of Apollo, Diana and Pan which are the perfect final for tall fluted columns. If the columns are equipped with indirect lighting and the heads cast shadows against white walls, the illusion of Grecian courts and gardens is heightened.

These charming white busts are attractive, too, set into niches under the arch of built-in bookshelves or in the wall of a winding stairway. Paint the inside of the niches black, dark brown, plum or deep blue in order to get the most dramatic effect.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—(P)—The smallest world wheat crop since 1925 was reported today by the bureau of agricultural economics.

The entire world output, with the exception of Russia and China, was estimated at 3,420,000,000 bushels compared with 3,722,000,000 last year and an average for the past five years of 3,876,000,000.

Mr. Nelson said there was some prospect for lengthening of world prices during the next few months, because world shipments are running slightly above last year and the southern hemisphere is about 75,000,000 bushels less than last year.

CHICAGO, Dec. 31.—(P)—The government had its guns trained on the outposts of the shattered Dillinger gang today.

With John Paul Chase facing a government demand for death on the gallows, San Francisco operatives disclosed they have thrown their weight into play in a drive to exterminate the last auxiliary of the gang.

The arrest of some 16 or 18 persons alleged to have harbored Chase and George "Baby Face" Nelson when the two reputedly hid out from authorities in California and Nevada after Nelson shot his way to liberty from a trap at the Little Bohemia resort in Wisconsin, was the immediate object of the drive. The two had returned East only a few weeks before the slaying of the two federal agents in the Chicago suburb of Barrington, agents believed to have been the last auxiliary of the drive.

Warned by Pratt that Helena was "too hot" for Chase and Nelson, an appearance agent said Chase went on to his former haunts in Mt. Shasta, Cal., and was arrested when he sought to borrow $20 from his former fellow employees in the state fish hatchery. Agents had warned employees at the hatchery to be on the lookout for him.

Meanwhile, a federal grand jury here, called back from a New Year's recess, awaited only Chase's arrival under heavy guard, before hearing evidence against him which United States District Attorney Dwight H. Green described as "amazing."

"If convicted," Green said, "Chase will be executed."

A broken gangland tradition was reported to have been broken by Chase's first "line" on Gillis Nelson's widow, Mrs. Helen Gillis, arrested soon after the shooting, reportedly "talked" and disclosed the first time the identity of the companion the night of the slayings.

MILLION RAILWAY EMPLOYEES RECEIVE RESTORATION PAY

WORKERS CONTINUE PLANS SPREAD EMPLOYMENT AT SAME WAGES

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 31.—(P)—More than 1,000,000 employees of the United States railroads will be beneficiaries of a payroll increase amounting to approximately $3,250,000 a month which takes effect tomorrow.

It will be the second one-fourth reduction of a payroll imposed Feb. 1, 1932, which since that time has been reduced to approximately $3,250,000 a month which takes effect tomorrow.

The original cut, amounting to ten per cent, was accepted by the brotherhoods only after a long controversy with the railroads' management, which was renewed again last spring only to be settled by an agreement to reduce the amount of the slash in three states.

Tomorrow's payroll increase, under the terms of that agreement, comes six months after the first one-fourth reduction of the payroll. The final five per cent cut will be restored April 1, 1935, at which time the brotherhood employees will again be back on a pre-depression wage basis.

The brotherhoods, however, do not intend to rest content upon this basis.

In line with the federal administration's policy of spreading employment by a shorter work-week, representatives of the brotherhoods say they are going to continue their fight for a six-hour day at the same wages now paid for eight hours.

At the same time they will press congress for enactment of a "full crew" bill, which in some cases would increase the number of men required to operate a train.

New Idea Ridding
World of Leprosy
Advanced by Gay

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 31.—(P)—A new idea for ridding the world of leprosy—segregating all children of known lepers immediately after their birth—was advanced as the best way of fighting the disease by a scientist today.

Such a system, which would prove to be the "first important pathway" toward wiping out the disease, said Dr. Frederick P. Gay, of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, N. Y., spoke before the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The idea behind segregating all children of lepers at birth would be to prevent the disease from being passed on to other children, although they may not show signs of the disease until later in life.

Dr. Gay said one scientist in Hong Kong found that only one case of leprosy occurred in 15 years among 219 children of lepers there who had been taken away from their parents at birth.

THE STORY OF 1934 :: 12 — Headlines Unroll Wealth Of "New Names In The News"

This is the twelfth and last in a series.

By JACK STINNETT
NEW YORK (AP)—The headlines of 1934 unrolled a profusion of new names.

"Names make news" is a journalistic adage but 1934 reversed it. News—big news—piled scores of names onto the front pages and kept a generous handful of them there until they were as familiar as the name of the family physician.

From the march of the Cardinals to the world's baseball championship, the midwestern crime wave, the developments in the Lindbergh baby kidnapping and murder case, the "tempest in a teapot" investigation of the "brain trust," and a dozen other news events, new names emerged slowly or burst like rockets on Page 1 of the dailies. No longer was identification necessary. Within no time at all the head writers were unfurling such banners as "Hauptmann Held For Murder," "Dizzy Dean Downs Detroit," "Dillinger Dies in Federal Trap," or "Wirt Willing to Testify."

Arrest of Hauptmann
Outstanding, of course, was Bruno Richard Hauptmann, the alien carpenter, around whose Bronx home the 2 1/2-year-old investigation of the kidnapping and murder of Charles J. Lindbergh, Jr. suddenly settled with the fury of a tornado. Only in his home town in Germany apparently had Hauptmann's name appeared in print until a New York filling station operator became suspicious of a gold note with which Hauptmann paid for some gasoline.

On into 1935 the name of Hauptmann is scheduled to hold its share of the headlines. And as the new year has made its turn the state of New Jersey will open its effort to prove that Hauptmann committed the "crime of the century."

Jerome Herman "Dizzy" Dean was too big a favorite with the sports writers and too good a pitcher not to have made his bow in the headlines before the World Series. In August, in fact, when he instigated and perpetrated a one-man strike for higher pay for Brother Paul, the story moved outside baseball circles. But by the time the series was over and Dean had surpassed even his own expectations, baseball's new favorite was permanently launched.

Headlines of the year just ending carried many new names. Some of the persons who just became nationally prominent in 1934 are sketched above.

No. 1 Bad Man
In police circles and in numerous localities of the northern mid-west, John Dillinger was notorious when the year opened. With three companions at Tucson, Ariz., and his subsequent "wooden pistol" escape from the Crown Point, Ind., county jail catapulted him into the national news category. From that point on, he continued the theme in the role of the department of justice and the nation's "No. 1 bad man" until that night in July when he relaxed his vigil and went to a movie. His death in the gunfire from officialdom's ambush was the highlight of an anti-crime drive which carried more gangsters to death from the guns of justice than in any other year.

Dr. William A. Wirt might still be a comparatively little known figure, but his name has been in the headlines since he was charged with the "brain trust" charges, concerning an "economic revolution with Roosevelt as its revolution with Roosevelt as its Keresky," set the Washington political pot to boiling over an investigation that filled the front pages for weeks until the house committee finally issued a report that the "charges of Dr. Wirt were unfounded."

Youngsters in News
Had the Dionne quintuplets never been born, Dr. Allen Roy Daffoe probably would have ended his life a sincere, intelligent country doctor remarkably like a character from recent fiction. His fight for the lives of the five Dionne babies since he received that before dawn "hurry call" at his home in Callender, Ont., May 28, has drawn almost as much attention from science as from the public. In that wooded north country now is a tiny hospital that bears his name and houses only five patients—the Dionne quintuplets.

Headlines came early in life to some; two youngsters this year have drawn more than many famous figures ever receive. There is Gloria Vanderbilt, 10 years old, who went into Central Park one day to feed the pigeons and precipitated charges by her mother in a habeas corpus proceeding against Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney that her daughter had been "spirited away." After nearly three months, preparations for another court battle over custody of the child are being made by Mrs. Vanderbilt.

The other youngster is none other than a darling of the movie, five-year-old Shirley Temple, who was drafted into the cast of "Stand Up and Cheer" and elevated to stardom because audiences did not just when the film was shown.

Donald Randall Richberg has been in the public prints for many years. Even before his appointment as director of the NRA, he had wedged a generous niche in America's "Who's Who." But it was not until 1934 that his name began to emerge as one of the most prominent figures in the "new deal." Since General Johnson's resignation, Richberg, once counsel for the railroad labor executive association and leader in the progressive party, has been director of the NRA policy committee and chief spokesman of the NRA barge.

There are scores of others whose names have popped into prominence: the kidnap victims, Edward G. Bremer, Mrs. Henry Stoll, W. F. Geitel, June Robley, There is Melvin Purvis, federal agent, who has been credited with a big role in the eradication of Dillinger, "Baby Face" Nelson and "Pretty Boy" Floyd. There are Captain Ivan Paderjany, who is to be brought from Austria for questioning in connection with the disappearance of Agnes Tutverson, and Dr. Alice Wynne, who is to be charged with the murder of her daughter-in-law.

POULTRY AND EGG SHIPMENTS DURING NOVEMBER INCREASE

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 31.—(Sp.)—Rail shipments of Texas poultry and eggs to interstate points during November totaled 730 cars, against 693 in November last year, an increase of 7 per cent, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

"As usual, the dominating characteristic of November shipments was the large movement of turkeys," the report said. "A total of 677 cars of turkeys were shipped out of the state this year, against 628 cars in November a year ago, or an increase of 8 per cent. Of these shipments 660 cars went in dressed form, while 17 cars were shipped alive. Last year, the corresponding figures were 586 and 42 cars. The magnitude of these shipments is further revealed by the fact that the average net weight of a car of live turkeys is about 15,000 pounds and of dressed turkeys about 22,000 pounds. With the larger physical movement and the increased prices which prevailed this year, the returns to growers were considerably greater than for several years.

"It should be noted also that the increase in shipments occurred in the southern prairie district centering about Curo, and in East Texas. In the other principal turkey district, which centers about Brady, Mason and Brownwood, shipments were slightly below those of last year, with shipments from the Panhandle were about the same as a year ago.

The wide distribution of Texas turkeys is evidenced by the fact that shipments were made this year to 24 states including the District of Columbia. New York led with receipts of 287 cars, followed by Illinois, 95 cars; Massachusetts, 81 cars; Pennsylvania, 75 cars; Ohio, 27 cars, and Connecticut, 21 cars."

About the most sensible thing a young man can do is to buy a lot. Call Kery can sell you one for $1.00 down and $1.00 a week.

NAVARRO BAPTIST ASSOCIATION HELD INTERESTING MEET

The Eleventh Avenue Baptist experienced a great day Sunday. The church was host to the Navarro Baptist Association from Friday night up to Sunday night. Sunday was a high day in the services of the meeting. There were four conversions and five additions to the church Sunday night. The spirit of the fifth Sunday meeting was evangelistic from beginning to end, and both laymen and ministers expressed great delight and deep interest in the county-wide work.

The next meeting will be held with the Unity church in Henderson county. Rev. G. H. Vaughn, pastor. The workers also agreed to have a workers meeting on Friday before the Fourth Sunday.

Large Turnip Shown Here on Saturday

L. P. Hodge brought to the Sun office Saturday afternoon the largest turnip brought to Corsicana this year. It measured 23 and 1-2 inches in circumference and weighed 6 pounds and 18 ounces. The turnip was raised in what is known as Thorp bottom, east of Chaffin.

In January with the First Baptist church of Blooming Grove, Chas. Gibbons, pastor.

The church announced an anniversary service at the Eleventh Avenue Baptist next Sunday. Sunday will be the third anniversary of Rev. Glenn's pastorate here. The church has had a continued growth from the beginning of the present pastorate, starting with membership of near two hundred and at the present time the membership is near seven hundred.

FEDERAL FINANCIAL AID HAS ENABLED STATE PUBLIC HEALTH DEPARTMENT TO DO MUCH WORK

Editor's Note: This is another of a series of articles on the work of state departments during 1934 written especially for the Associated Press.

By DR. JOHN W. BROWN, State Health Officer.

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 31.—(AP)—During the past two years the amount of work carried out in the Texas Public Health Department would have been impossible without the appropriation received from the federal legislature.

The work in sanitation, nursing, and malaria control was made possible by help from C. W. A. funds and the U. S. public health service. Most of the help has now been withdrawn and should be assumed by the state.

The hurricane disaster in the Rio Grande Valley was one of the most spectacular health demonstrations that this department has called upon to meet. The work accomplished there in sanitation and disease prevention was highly commended by all who were familiar with it. Later, a similar disaster caused the Mexican government to ask assistance of Texas.

The sanitary force is not large enough to inspect all the water and sewage plants in the state each year, about three hundred in all that can be inspected each year. An enormous amount of rural sanitation work was accomplished with C. W. A. labor and supervision furnished by the U. S. public health service. A number of improvements and corrections have been secured and stream pollution reduced. More work is necessary in unincorporated towns and rural areas.

High Class Service
The laboratory of which the Pasteur Institute is a part has continued to function and give the citizens of Texas a high class service in treatment, rabies and assistance in the diagnosis of disease. Vaccines are also manufactured and furnished to health officers for their use with indigent patients.

Some of the county health units were forced to stop their work when funds from the federal government were withdrawn. The state should have an appropriation to continue this work.

Five nurses have been employed and their time has been well spent in demonstrational work, supervision of public health nursing work, and assistance in prenatal, natal, and postnatal care of mothers and babies much in teaching of health habits to test has been taken in the school children.

Eight inspectors have been employed to protect the food and drug supplies of the state. Over 610 tons of food have been destroyed as unfit for human use. These inspectors also help safeguard the purity of the milk produced in the towns which they visit.

Epidemics Averted
A large number of threatened epidemics have been averted in practically every corner of the state. These consist of typhoid fever, typhus fever, smallpox, and scarlet fever. The average person thinks that leprosy has been eradicated but such is not the case. Several cases of this disease have been located and sent to the national leprosy hospital.

Malaria work was carried on in 186 counties. The labor for ditching, etc., was drawn from the C. W. A. files and with this labor more than twelve million feet of ditches were constructed. In addition much educational work was done for the purpose of teaching physicians malaria microscopy and the general public how to protect themselves against the disease.

Births and Deaths
Texas was admitted to the birth and death registration area of the United States and now for the first time in her history accurate comparisons of her health conditions with those of other states is now possible.

We are the state department of health know that everything possible to protect the health of the citizens of Texas is not being done. This is not because of the inability of those responsible for the administration, but because of the fact that sufficient money to give adequate service has never been granted on to the best of our ability and have given large returns on every dollar that the legislature has invested in health

WIFE OF BASTROP COMMISSIONER IS AMBUSH VICTIM

BASTROP, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Close to the bustling shooting of Mrs. A. C. Grohman, wife of a Bastrop county commissioner, by a person who snipped telephone wires and then fired a shotgun blast through a window glass, were sought by officers today.

Mrs. Grohman, sitting beside her husband in the living room of their home near here, was struck in the face forehead and chest Saturday night. Physicians said she would recover.

Two former Texas rangers, Frank Hamner and B. M. Gault, who aided in the extermination of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker joined Sheriff E. D. Cartwright in a fruitless search for the person who fired the blast.

Grohman told officers he and his wife were reading. "My back was to the window while my wife faced it. Suddenly there was a roar of a shotgun and my wife cried out and tumbled forward. I jumped up, grabbed my wife and carried her to a bed. It all happened very quickly."

Grohman said all telephone wires but the one leading to a neighbor's home had been cut. Physicians were notified over this line. He said he had no enemies, "certainly none who would do such a thing." He said the "shot undoubtedly was intended for me."

Indistinct footprints were found under the window.

DAY OF SPECIAL PRAYER OBSERVED FIRST CHRISTIAN

A day of special prayer was observed yesterday at the First Christian church, the services beginning at 9:45 in the Bible school period. Opening with departmental programs, each class studied the subject of prayer. The minister reached at 10:45 a. m. using as his subject, "The Call to Prayer." The quartet sang as a special number "Thou Art My God," by Heyser.

The young people of the church in their meeting of Christian Endeavor had a large attendance at 6:30, all studying the subject of prayer. The program was in charge of Gurthelle Lenox.

The sermon subject for the evening service, "The Unseen Realities of the Dying Year," Special music by the quartet, "In His Love Abiding," by Wilson. This was the closing service for the church year. The audience stood with bowed heads, and the choir sang, very softly, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

PLANNING A REDUCTION

IF you are contemplating taking off those extra pounds, Miss Forbes will tell you today how to lessen the reduction period.

The first thing to consider in getting ready for a reduction diet is that of cleansing the digestive tract, and one of the easiest ways is that of taking nothing but fruit juice for a few days. Orange juice, or orange with some lemon juice is taken in the morning. Lemon juice in hot water the first thing in the morning is a cleanser for any person whether there is dieting being considered or not. The E. K. Forbes fruit is the perfect choice also for the last thing at night, and this also applies to persons at any time. It is not only cleansing but it has sedative qualities. All of these fruit juices are full of excellent chemical elements that are so quickly assimilated if taken without other food, that they are almost absorbed into the blood stream in very short time after they have reached the stomach. They are also alkaline as soon as they combine with the digestive juices, in spite of the fact that they are acid in taste.

A few days of this cleansing means time saved on the reduction. There will be less desire for bulk after this, and a less amount of food will satisfy the appetite. If you are choosing the plan of counting the calories, begin then and watch the change in weight, as you choose your number of calories from the foods that you prefer to eat. If you would rather eliminate the foods that build up fat, make your diet up from vegetables, fruits, lean meats. Starches, sugar and fats are the foods to be cautious about when there is much reduction to be done, and it is possible to get rid of as much as ten pounds just by eliminating bread from the diet.

Mrs. K.—There is no reason why a young woman who has turned grey should not do something to either color the hair to what it had been naturally, or have it bleached, so the whole head will be the same. There are some dyes that are practically harmless now, and the same may be said about some bleaching.

Peroxide may be used in connection with oil so the drying effects may be very much limited. A young woman with streaked greying hair will add many years to her appearance, but either successful bleaching or coloring of her hair will bring her right back into girlhood again. If you choose the bleaching, your hair will be a pale golden color. Have it done by an expert; first, if you can do it that way.

CLAIMED NEGROES ENGAGE IN BATTLE DRESDEN COMMUNITY

Examining trials are scheduled to be held before Judge M. Bryant during the day as a result of an alleged pitched battle in the Dresden community with several negroes involved Friday morning.

The bombardment of the house said to be occupied by Alfred Walton, negro, in which shotguns, pistols and other firearms were used, is reported to have been occasioned by a dispute over a hog.

Walton received two wounds in the face and one wound in the hand from shotgun charges, but his injuries are not serious.

Formal charges of assault with intent to murder have been filed by Constable S. T. Curry of Blooming Grove against Albert Hicks, Jim Hicks, Major Hicks, Andy Hicks and one "Joy" whose last name is not known here.

THREE CHANGES OF MAJOR IMPORT ARE SLATED ON RELIEF 'UNEMPLOYABLES' WILL GO BACK TO STATE'S CARE; CUT CASH GRANTS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The Roosevelt administration, mapping a new approach today to the government's paramount problem, planned three changes of major import in its unemployment relief policies.

1. By Feb. 1, the federal emergency relief administration hopes to have returned all the "unemployables" on its rolls to the care of the states. Administrator Harry L. Hopkins said that, with their dependents, they number about 20 per cent of those on federal relief. The Washington Post estimated the number of "unemployables" and relatives involved at nearly 4,000,000.

2. Hoping that increased activity in private business would diminish the army of jobless, President Roosevelt sought to work out an elastic budget for relief, which could be curtailed with an increase in private employment.

3. There were new indications that President Roosevelt desired to eliminate direct cash grants, so far as that is considered possible, for the employable people on federal relief, and substitute work aid.

Direct Relief to States. With the completion of the campaign announced by Hopkins, the task of direct relief would become exclusively the province of the states and local communities. Hopkins, who outlined the plan after a conference at the White House, indicated a hope that the saving to the federal government would be considerable. It probably would correspond, however, with the cut in the number on federal relief because state expenditures for the purpose would be considered in determining what state contributions to other phases of the relief problem were adequate.

"Hopkins disclosed that 'unemployables' have for some time been gradually transferred back to the care of the states. He said that before the depression, these people, who include the aged, infirm and others unable to work, were cared for locally."

White House Conference. Following yesterday's White House conference, in which Secretary Ickes, Morgenthau and Budget Director Daniel Bell also took part, the entire cabinet and other high officials were expected to gather with the president today to discuss the legislative program.

The extent of the public works appropriation to be sought has yet to be announced. Though Secretary Ickes emphasized that this was "something for the president to announce," he expressed favor again for low cost housing.

While these government discussions about the jobs were going on, the American Federation of Labor announced figures to show further increases in unemployment. Placing the number out of work in industry in November at 11,450,000, it said this was an increase of 420,000 over October and 400,000 over November last year.

The rise was laid to the normal increase in population, which yearly adds more than 400,000 to the army of jobseekers.

LINDBERGH'S WILL BE CALLED TESTIFY HAUPTMANN CASE

PARENTS OF KIDNAPED AND SLAIN BABY MUST RELIVE TRYING ORDEAL

By JAMES Y. LAWRENCE. Associated Press Staff Writer. FLEMINGTON, N. J., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh are destined to relive, as witnesses in Bruno Richard Hauptmann's trial, the ordeal of their first son's kidnapping and death, but John Hughes Curtis of Norfolk, Va., will probably be denied part in the drama.

Curtis, the shipbuilder who once was convicted of obstructing justice for posing as a Lindbergh "intermediary," offered to testify against Hauptmann. Prosecutors, apparently intent on other aspects of their case against the Lindbergh kidnap-slaying suspect, were cool to his suggestion.

Though Curtis said he would swear that he has talked to Hauptmann and that the suspect showed him some of the Lindbergh ransom money, Attorney General David T. Wilentz merely said that the matter was "under advisement." From an official source came a definite prediction that Curtis' offer would be "flatly rejected."

Colonel Lindbergh, for the first time in more than two years, went sorrowfully back yesterday to the Hopewell mansion where Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., was stolen. With four prosecuting officials at his heels, he paced through the empty rooms, telling calmly of the things that had happened on the wintry night of March 1, 1932, when the baby was taken from his crib to death.

Patently answering questions, in order to provide the prose-tors with a clear picture of the crime, he led them to the room where the baby lay in the window where the kidnaper left a ransom note and finally to the living room where the father sat reading, unaware of the ugly crime.

Albanian Rebel Forced Reported To Be Penned In

ROME, Dec. 31.—(AP)—A rebel force, Albania is strongly engaged in a valley near Dibra, although penned in by government troops, Italian aviators arriving here today for Tirana, capital of Albania, said.

Mohamed Bairahtar, former aide-de-camp of King Zog, is leading the revolt and is supported by his clan, the aviators asserted.

Government troops have a strongly superior force, they said, but hesitate to attack, knowing a battle would result in great loss of life and hoping that Bairahtar can be induced to surrender.

There have been recurrent reports in recent days of a revolt in King Zog's country, which is about the area of Maryland, but they were promptly denied by the Albanian government.

The 40-year-old Zog, once leader of a clan of fierce mountain fighters, was elected king when Albania became a monarchy in 1928. He has pushed an ambitious program of modernization and development.

Albania, with a population of 820,000, is on the west coast of the Balkan peninsula, bordering upon Greece, Yugoslavia and the Ionian Sea.

RICHBERG FORESEES TROUBLE UNLESS IDLE MILLIONS FIND WORK

RECOVERY CHIEF VOICES HOPE THAT BUSINESS WILL DO ITS FULL PART

CLEVELAND, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Donald Richberg said today that America faces "internal dissension" unless the unemployed millions find work.

Voicing a hope that business will "do its part," the President's recovery chief said there are "a large number of business men" who "now favor the debt because it will cost them less than to give men work."

Criticizing this view as "very short sighted," he said: "Perhaps it might be cheaper even in a money sense to find work for these idle hands to do than to support the armies necessary to hold them back if once these millions of pleading fingers were turned into threatening claws."

"It isn't always sound business judgment," Richberg said, "to pay the cheapest price for a thing. And it is very often very hard political judgment to buy the cheapest protection of national security."

"We may have some reasonable fears of a foreign foe. But the gravest dangers that threaten America are those of internal dissension."

Richberg spoke at a luncheon opening the civic hands to the carried to the exposition President Roosevelt's felicitations: "With due recognition of its value the President of the United States has directed me to express his appreciation of the vision which has inspired this project, and the characteristic vigor with which the citizens of Cleveland and Ohio have carried it forward."

As one means of reducing the number of unemployed, Richberg suggested the need for better housing and the replacement of obsolete machinery and equipment.

Former Wife Denies Knowledge of Death Hanging Skeleton

BAIRD, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Mrs. Raymond Henry, mother of two children, staunchly denied in a statement yesterday that she had seen her former husband, H. L. McBee, from May, 1933, until his skeleton recently was found hanging from a tree limb in a woods near Rising Star.

Mrs. Henry, charged with her former husband's death, said he left the house where she lay in May, 1933, and went to a drug store to get a prescription filled.

"I told him to hurry back—I was ill. He left by the back door and I have never seen him since."

Mrs. Henry's present husband also is charged with murder in connection with McBee's death.

Half Holiday For Some Exchanges

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Domestic commodity exchanges observing a half holiday today were the New York cottonseed oil, cocoa, lead, zinc, copper, tin, silk, hides and rubber. All Canadian financial exchanges and the silver market will observe a half holiday, closing at 12:30 p. m.

The Savannah naval stores market and the Liverpool cotton exchange and Paris bourse remained closed the entire day.

All domestic and foreign markets will be closed Tuesday, New Year's Day.

Resting Hitler

Said Hitler was Jew while custom men liberated, the official said, she went into the station restaurant and engaged in conversation with storm troopers.

"These are awful uniforms you have," the official quoted her as saying. "This angered the storm troopers, who replied 'The SA is an honorable uniform.'"

"The conversation continued on the same level when suddenly the girl said, 'Hitler's a Jew. His parents were Jews.'"

CONGRESSMAN DIES HAS PLAN REPLACE PRESENT MEASURES

NEW DOMESTIC ALLOTMENT PLAN FOR WHEAT, COTTON AND RICE PROMISED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Representative Dies (R-Texas) said today he planned to sponsor a bill in congress to set up a new domestic allotment plan for wheat, cotton and rice, which would replace the Bankhead bill and the present agricultural adjustment administration scheme of benefit payments.

The measure would provide certain payments to growers of those crops which Dies termed as those which have exportable surpluses and would stimulate foreign trade by accepting silver in payment for all such surpluses this country sells abroad.

"There would be no compulsory element in this because there would be no restrictive element," Dies said. "The grower would be paid extra for his allotment but if he produced more than that, he would have to take the world market price and take his chance on breaking even."

The first step, would have the allotments divided equally among the growers. Cotton farmers would be given ten cents a pound in addition to the world price, rice growers would get a cent a pound and wheat farmers would be given the import duty on their product in addition to the world figure. Wheat, cotton and rice in excess of an individual allotment would have to find an outlet at competitive prices.

Dies would reduce the weight content of the gold dollar from 35 5/8 grains, nine-tenths fine, to 22 9/10 grains and would reduce the weight of the silver dollar from 412 1/2 grains to 206 1/4 grains. The treasury then would issue silver certificates against all of that metal it had; one dollar of certificate being issued for each 206 1/4 grains in the treasury.

Dies said the government therefore would profit by about $1,000,000, which, along with the increased values resulting from the reduction in the weight of the gold dollar, would be turned over to the secretary of agriculture in the form of a domestic allotment fund, out of which the benefit payments to wheat, rice and cotton growers would be paid.

SEVENTY-FOURTH TO BE OUTSTANDING AS CONGRESS SESSION

MANY CONTROVERSIAL MATTERS TO BE SETTLED SAYS NEXT SPEAKER

(Representative Joseph W. Byrns, Tennessee democrat, who is considered certain to be the speaker in the 74th congress opening Thursday, has written for the Associated Press the following preview of the session):

By JOSEPH W. BYRNS (Copyright, 1934, By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The many big problems that are the job of the seventy-fourth congress will make it one of the outstanding sessions in history.

There is no doubt in my mind, either, but that the outcome will serve to weld the democratic party into a unified whole.

Many things that the new congress must settle will be controversial. Some may cause extended and heated debate. But in the end, the democrats, who have such overwhelming control in both the house and senate, will work together.

A glance at some of the problems in store shows the broad scope of the necessary work. There is, probably at the top of the list, the question of relief.

Since the depression started and our party took control, the federal government has assumed the leadership in this question, following a President who decreed—and wisely—that none should starve.

But that system cannot be continued forever. Business is improving, and things generally are looking up. It will be one of our tasks to determine whether and how to taper off the federal government's activities.

In that tapering off, we approach another of our biggest problems—social legislation. All sorts of job insurance and old age pension plans are proposed, and there will be others. The seventy-fourth congress must decide which of the many plans will be most satisfactory, and which should be enacted, if any. That decision must be reached after mature consideration of all the factors involved.

Another big job, of course, will be extending some of the benefits that went to industry and labor under temporary phases of the National Industrial Recovery act. Some call for a continuation of the act, some plead for extension of the collective bargaining features of the recovery act.

These are but a few of the major questions ahead. The seventy-fourth congress will be competent to find correct answers to them.

Mysterious Blast At Chicken Garden

DALLAS, Dec. 31.—(AP)—A mysterious explosion early today wrecked and set fire to Kirby's chicken garden. An unidentified white man was in his clothing after was seen running from the place, beating the flames with his hat.

A resident of the neighborhood, J. Johnson, said he helped the man extinguish his burning clothing and then the man continued his flight. The damage to the chicken garden was estimated at $5,000.

BETTER BUSINESS AND HIGHER INCOMES FOR FARMERS SEEN IN COMING YEAR BY FORECASTERS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Better business for 1935, and higher incomes for farmers, were forecast in year-end statements published today.

Adopting the words of the weatherman, Secretary of Commerce Roper saw the economic skies "clearing, with fairer weather ahead for business."

The dark clouds of poor sales and uncertainty as to what farmers are rapidly being dispelled," he said.

He reported a rising feeling of optimism in the business world, which he attributed in part to a better understanding of the national and international situations.

An increase of more than 70 per cent in industrial profits during the first nine months of 1934 over the same period of 1933 was reported in the monthly bulletin of the Federal Reserve board.

The same source said wages paid by factories, mines, railroads and public utilities, were 25 per cent larger in the first 10 months of this year compared to 1933; while the income of farmers during the same period was enlarged by $946,000,000.

About one-third of the latter increase was attributed to government benefit payments for acreage reduction and emergency livestock purchases. There was a 12 per cent boost in retail prices of food, bringing the level to 27 per cent above the low of April, 1933.

At the same time, the agricultural adjustment administration, estimating that $476,000,000 would go to more than 3,000,000 farmers in 1935 in rental and benefit payments, said indications were that the income from the sale of farm products, plus rental and benefits, would "show some advance over the 1934 level."

From J. J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, comprising most of the class one carriers, came an expression that "the railroads of the United States enter the year 1935 with renewed hopes as to their future."

He said the last 12 months had not been up to expectations in traffic and earnings but called attention to "notable accomplishments" in other respects, particularly improvement in operating methods.

The Public Works administration reported it created more than 3,000,000 hours of employment in 1934. Secretary Ickes said the employment of 2,000,000 persons can be traced to PWA with indirect benefits to 5,000,000 others.

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS BADLY NEEDED REVENUES TO STATES FROM LIQUOR SALES AND TAXES

By TAYLOR HENRY (Copyright, 1934, By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Millions of dollars of much needed additional revenue, government officials said, are being added up the results of their first year in the liquor business.

States operating their own liquor sale systems, however, were faced with the possibility of the federal government's stepping in and taking from them a share of their profits in the form of federal taxes.

In a test case in Pennsylvania, a federal judge ruled yesterday that the state had divested itself of its sovereign character by opening a chain of liquor stores and is therefore liable for federal liquor taxes, including a floor tax of $1,000,000.

Repeat! first year brought the federal government approximately $400,000,000 even though it collected no levy on state liquor control systems. The government had estimated that its first year revenue, including tariff, would be about $250,000,000.

Pennsylvania in Lead Pennsylvania, scene of the test case, had most reasons for being interested in its state stores with an $11,000,000 income, many times greater than that of any other state using the state ownership method of liquor distribution.

On a gross business of $11,000,000 the state of Washington made a net profit of $2,500,000 despite the fact that its stores were not opened until March 1. The Montana liquor system showed net profits of $850,000 exclusive of Christmas sales, and in Oregon, only other western state to have a similar set-up, the profits were approximately $900,000.

Virginia opened her liquor stores in May and by the first of November had reached an approximate net of $1,175,000. In Iowa, where operations started even later, the profit amounted to about $500,000 for the half year.

CHRISTMAS TRADE SO GOOD THAT STOCKS REDUCED TO LOW POINT PAST SEVERAL YEARS

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Inventories of holiday goods were reduced to the smallest proportions in years, said the Dun and Bradstreet weekly trade review, by the exceptional volume of Christmas buying which reached peak levels last Monday.

"Preliminary estimates for the country as a whole," asserted the summary, "place the Christmas sales at an increase ranging from 25 to 40 per cent by comparison with those of last year, with the possibility that final totals will show the best trade in dollars since 1929."

"With the surprisingly large expansion of the December volume, the completion of the final returns for 1934 doubtless will reveal an increase in sales of 15 to 20 per cent over the 1933 figures."

"While the possible trend of the industrial operations in 1935 may be variously interpreted, there is no uncertainty regarding the holdness with which recovery has proceeded since the midsummer lows."

"For ten consecutive weeks the Dun and Bradstreet business activity barometer has climbed upward steadily, and for the current period by comparison the sharpest upturn in many years. From 69.4 for the week preceding it jumped to 74.5, or a gain of 7 per cent which carried it beyond the midsummer peak to the highest level in three and a half years."

MYSTERY SURROUNDS DEATH IN NEW YORK ECUADOREAN CHARGE

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Ernesto Chacon Quirola, Ecuadorean charge d'affaires to Germany, was found dead today in the vestibule of a building at 69 West 52nd street under circumstances regarded by police as mysterious.

The diplomat's clothes were disheveled and a single dollar bill was found in his pockets. A black overcoat as thrown across the body and a brown felt hat was beside it when a policeman made the discovery.

Police were of the opinion that the man had been robbed. Detectives who made the preliminary investigation said they found nothing suspicious in the circumstances surrounding Chacon's death. However, when his identity was established, the fact that so little money was in the clothing resulted in a more thorough investigation. There were no marks of violence on the body.

At the office of the Ecuadorean consul-general it was learned Chacon was given his appointment to Berlin December 2, last. Previously he had been charge d'affaires at London, England, and secretary of the minister of foreign relations in Ecuador.

Chacon, accompanied by his wife, Nancy, and their child, arrived on the liner Santa Barbara last Tuesday. They proceeded to Washington and visited the Ecuadorean minister to this country, C. E. Alfaro. Officials at the consulate general were uncertain when Chacon and his family returned to New York. They had registered at the Hotel Roosevelt prior to their scheduled departure for Germany Wednesday.

Consul General S. E. Duran identified the body at a police station. On his return he had been informed that Chacon's death was attributable to natural causes.

He said that Chacon had been consul general at London, not charge d'affaires.

En Route to Berlin. WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Ecuadorean legation officials here said today Ernesto Chacon found dead in New York, was the newly appointed Ecuadorean minister to Germany and had been en route to his new post in Berlin.

THREE BILLION

Public works has laid out $1,250,000,000 on construction projects, besides allocating money not yet spent and paying expenses of PWA and some other emergency agencies. During the height of its activity last summer it estimated 2,000,000 persons had employment directly or indirectly from PWA projects. The greatest part of its pump-priming drive was exerted during 1934. PWA projects got under way during 1933.

SAAR

(Continued From Page One) responsible for the riot was not completed. Seek Anti-Nazi Rally Cancellation. The common front told the commission the Nazi "flying disbanding squad" was deliberately provoking incidents throughout the territory in an effort to induce the government to cancel a big anti-Nazi rally Jan. 6 at Saarbrücken, which special trains are to bring delegates from all parts of the Saar basin.

A Hitler youth was injured and the restaurant where the fight took place was wrecked. The outbreak was the second violent one of the week-end. Several persons were injured yesterday at Bleskastel when an anti-Nazi political meeting was broken up, allegedly by a band of Nazis.

Half a dozen unidentified men, described by Nazis as "German emigrants," were said to have attacked a group of Hitler youths in the restaurant by breaking the door and windows.

Guns were drawn and the Nazis barricaded themselves behind chairs and tables. The attackers fled when residents, awakened by the shooting, ran to the scene.

Fifteen persons were injured, it was estimated, in the most serious week-end political fighting the Saar has had in months. Charges that France is financing Catholic opposition Reichsführer Hitler in the Saar Basin territory were made by Hugo Hago Hagn, editor of a Catholic newspaper.

In a public statement Hagn, who resigned to protest said the German peoples' party, which opposes a return to Germany in the January 13 plebiscite, receives "French money monthly."

"I will have nothing to do with French propaganda," said Hagn in explaining his resignation. "I had been assured that the new Saar Post (of which he was editor) was supported by German Catholics, but I discovered otherwise."

French mining interests, the editor asserted, were back of the alleged subsidies. Similar charges were made recently by the German front, Nazi organization.

Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Sheets returned to their home in Archer City, and Mrs. R. W. Gilbert and son and daughter returned to Electra Monday after a visit in the E. S. Sheets home for the holidays. Mrs. Rufus Willis will remain for several days additional visit.

More Rental Checks.
